Student Opportunities for Involvement in Faculty Research

“Improving the Health of Individuals, Families, and Communities through Nursing Science”

Thursday, November 8, 5-6:00 pm
School of Nursing, Carrington Hall
Room 207

Join us for a discussion on:
• How students can participate in faculty research
• How these experiences advance your professional development and career plans

Information on the UNC-Chapel Hill Honors Program and other avenues for participating in research with School of Nursing faculty members will be provided. You will also hear from a panel of two nurse scientists who will share the focus of their work, students involvement on their past projects, and opportunities that could involve you. Don’t miss it!

To register for this session or get directions, please call, 919-843-8554 or email, CaBBnursing@unc.edu

The CaBB Project (Careers Beyond the Bedside) The CaBB Project (Careers Beyond the Bedside) is federally funded by Health Resources and Services Administration (Grant # - D19HP24298) to increase diversity in the nursing workforce. The program targets particular groups currently underrepresented in the nursing profession: ethnic minority groups, “first-generation” college students, or students who currently reside in a medically under-served geographic area. Many of the benefits of the CaBB project are open to any pre-nursing student.
