Dear Nurse Practitioner Student,

Congratulations on your acceptance to Nurse Practitioner School! Getting accepted into this program clearly demonstrates that you stand out among your peers and are the best of the best in your profession. I am sure you know how demanding this course of study is going to be and that you considered plans for your financial security during the timeframe of this training. It is because of this, I am writing to tell you about an exciting and rewarding financial aid program offered by the United States Air Force Medical Service. The Nurse Corps Health Professions Scholarship Program (NCHPSP) pays you a stipend of $2,156 per month for living expenses during your training. Along with the stipend, the scholarship covers 100% of your tuition, textbooks, small equipment items, supplies, and all required fees associated with training.

After Nurse Practitioner (NP) School, you will be commissioned as an officer in the Air Force Nurse Corps. Your commitment for receiving the scholarship will be practicing as an NP in your specialty in the Air Force for three years, starting after NP school completion. During this time you will gain valuable practical experience and an unimaginable amount of leadership experience.

Being a Nurse Practitioner, you'll share a common bond with your patients – service to country. Plus, you'll have the satisfaction of knowing you can give your patients the health care they need without worrying about their ability to pay.

Once again, congratulations on your acceptance to Nurse Practitioner School. If you choose to find out more information about this program, please know there is no obligation in doing so. Feel free to call me at (919) 850-9475 x-21 or e-mail me at Brian.Clabby@us.af.mil to schedule an appointment. Hearing the benefits and deciding for yourself could certainly be worth your time.

Sincerely,
Brian J. Clabby (T)Sgt, USAF
