Lecture Series

The Ethnic Minority Visiting Scholar Lecture Series

LTC Angelo D. Moore, PhD, MSN, FNP-BC
Center for Nursing Science & Clinical Inquiry
Northern Regional Medical Command, Fort Bragg, NC

Presents:
The Military Has Served Us – How Can We Serve Them?

---

About the Speaker

LTC Moore, a SON PhD alum, is currently the Deputy Chief, Center for Nursing Science and Clinical Inquiry for the Northern Regional Medical Command located at Fort Bragg, NC, and is responsible for developing and managing a program of research supporting Corps-level and Command strategic imperatives for a regional medical center with 225,000 beneficiaries. LTC Moore was also hand-selected to serve as the Subject Matter Expert and Lead Action Officer in redesigning the healthcare system in a remote area in the Pacific. He was hand-selected to serve as the Subject Matter Expert and Lead Action Officer in redesigning the Healthcare system in a remote area in the Pacific. He serves as Principal Investigator for a $251,000 funded study Factors and Behaviors to Consider When Implementing the Patient-Centered Medical Home. This research is funded by TriService Nursing Research Program (TSNRP). LTC Moore serves as a mentor and teacher of nurses on conducting research and Evidence-Based Practice projects. He also serves on the Institutional Review Board at Womack Army Medical Center.

After graduating from Goldsboro High School in 1986, LTC Moore attended Winston-Salem State University for one year before enlisting in the Army Signal Corps. He deployed in support of Operations Desert Shield, Desert Storm, and Provide Comfort. After 5 years enlisted, he was awarded an Army Green-to-Gold ROTC scholarship and returned to WSSU in August 1992 to earn his Bachelor of Science in Nursing from Winston-Salem State University in 1995 and was commissioned as a 2nd Lieutenant in the US Army. He has worked in Medical-Surgical Nursing and Critical Care Nursing. He also served as a Triage Officer for wounded warriors being evacuated from Operations Iraqi Freedom and Enduring Freedom arriving at Landstuhl Regional Medical Center in Germany. He commanded the New York City Healthcare Recruiting Region which spanned the southern half of New York State, all of New York City, Long Island, New Jersey, and Europe. LTC Moore has served 24 years on active duty. He has numerous military awards & decorations.

LTC Moore is a graduate from the Army Medical Department's Officer Basic Course, Officer Advanced Course, and Advanced Nurse Leadership Course. He is also a graduate of the Army Command & General Staff College. He earned his Master of Science in Nursing as a Family Nurse Practitioner from Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences in 2002. LTC Moore earned his PhD in Nursing Research from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 2010. He was awarded the 2012 Nurse Researcher of the Year from the National Black Nurses Association, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill School of Nursing 2012 Graduate of the Last Decade (G.O.L.D) Alumni Award, and the 2013 Winston-Salem State University Alumni Achiever Award for the School of Health Sciences.

---

Panel Discussion:

Calling Forth the Courage: Making a Difference in Health and Health Care

Date: March 06, 2014
Time: 08:00 am – 4:00 pm
Place: Sheraton Europa, Chapel Hill, NC

Lecture Series

The Ethnic Minority Visiting Scholar Lecture Series was established at the UNC-Chapel Hill School of Nursing in 2000. The lectureship hosts outstanding specialists, educators, researchers, and directors to promote the exchange of ideas related to timely nursing matters affecting ethnic and minority populations.