

Developing an Inclusive and Culturally Responsible Classroom

Instructor: Suja Davis, PhD, RN

Length: 1 hour

Program Description: Explore the profound influence of culture on health and delve into the intricate web of healthcare disparities rooted in language, economic circumstances, and social determinants of health. This course equips educators with the knowledge and tools to raise awareness in the classroom, fostering a stronger connection between nursing concepts and students' life experiences.

Learning Objectives: At the end of this program, participants will be able to:

- discover the power of inclusive teaching practices in promoting a sense of belonging and driving student success.
- gain practical strategies to cultivate an inclusive learning environment that prepares healthcare professionals to serve their diverse communities effectively.

Audience:

Nursing educators, nursing professional development specialists, academic faculty, and anyone who provides continuing professional development to healthcare providers.
